

The same pH estimate can hide different reserves

Curiosity Reading | CheAI Research Inc.

Two conjugate-pair cards can have the same ratio and therefore the same simple pH estimate while holding dramatically different total amounts. That is why ratio belongs to range reasoning and inventory belongs to capacity reasoning. The fictional cards here are models, not directions for preparing, testing, or using a solution.